Case Summary

This case concerns an alleged investment fraud scheme operated through Al-Manar Golden Investments LLC, a company registered in 2023. The principal suspect, Mohammad Al-Farsi, in his capacity as Managing Director, is accused of soliciting funds from at least forty-two private investors between January 2024 and November 2025 under the promise of guaranteed monthly returns of 8% from purported gold trading operations. Investigators allege that no genuine trading took place and that funds from new investors were used to pay earlier investors in the manner of a Ponzi scheme. The total amount alleged to have been misappropriated is 2,350,000 KWD.

The scheme collapsed in November 2025 when monthly payments stopped and the company's offices in the Al-Salhiya commercial tower were found vacated. A complaint was filed by investor Khalid Mansour on 3 December 2025, followed by thirty-one further complaints. The Public Prosecution opened a criminal investigation on 15 December 2025 and the case was formally filed on 12 March 2026.

Section 2 — Charges and Legal Basis

2.1 Statement of Charges

Charge One — Aggravated Fraud: That between January 2024 and November 2025, the defendant Mohammad Al-Farsi, with intent to unlawfully appropriate the property of others, employed fraudulent means — namely false representations of a profitable gold trading operation, fabricated account statements, and forged trading certificates — to induce forty-two victims to hand over sums totalling 2,350,000 KWD.

Charge Two — Embezzlement of Entrusted Funds: That the defendant, having received investor funds on the basis of investment management agreements, diverted those funds to personal accounts and personal expenditures including the purchase of two vehicles and real property registered in the name of a relative.

Charge Three — Forgery of Private Documents: That the defendants Mohammad Al-Farsi and Fatima Al-Zahrani jointly created and issued falsified monthly account statements and trading confirmations bearing the forged letterhead of an international bullion exchange.

Charge Four — Money Laundering: That the defendants transferred approximately 820,000 KWD of criminal proceeds through a network of six shell company accounts in order to conceal the origin of the funds.

2.2 Applicable Provisions

The charges are brought under the following provisions of the (fictional) Penal Code: Article 231 (fraud), Article 240 (embezzlement), Articles 257–260 (forgery of private documents), and Articles 2 and 5 of the Anti-Money Laundering Law No. 106. Aggravating circumstances are asserted under Article 233 owing to the number of victims and the systematic character of the scheme.

2.3 Position of the Defence

Counsel for the primary defendant denies all charges and asserts that the company engaged in genuine gold trading that suffered losses due to market volatility during 2025, and that any payment failures reflect commercial failure rather than criminal intent. The defence has requested the appointment of an independent trading expert and disputes the methodology of the forensic audit in Exhibit E-7.

Section 3 — Investigation Report (Extract)

3.1 Origin of the Investigation

On 3 December 2025, complainant Khalid Mansour reported to the Economic Crimes Unit that monthly returns from his investment with Al-Manar Golden Investments had ceased and that the company's offices were vacated. Preliminary verification confirmed the company had terminated its office lease on 20 November 2025 and that its commercial licence renewal was pending. The unit registered report No. ECU-2025-4481.

3.2 Financial Investigation

Bank records obtained under judicial order No. 2025/889 show that the company's principal account at (fictional) Gulf Continental Bank received deposits of 2,412,300 KWD from individual investors between January 2024 and October 2025. Analysis shows: (a) no outgoing payments to any bullion dealer, exchange, or commodities broker; (b) transfers of 1,140,000 KWD to earlier investors recorded as 'monthly profit'; (c) transfers of 610,000 KWD to the personal account of Mohammad Al-Farsi; (d) transfers of 820,000 KWD to six corporate accounts held by shell entities with no employees or activity; and (e) cash withdrawals of 190,000 KWD.

3.3 Search and Seizure

A search of the defendant's residence on 18 December 2025 under warrant No. 2025/1022 recovered two laptop computers, a document shredder containing partially destroyed account statements, 34 investor agreement originals, and a rubber stamp bearing the insignia of the 'International Bullion Exchange — Zurich', an entity that does not exist. Digital forensic imaging was completed by the Cybercrime Laboratory (report CFL-2026-071).

3.4 Statements of the Accused

The defendant Mohammad Al-Farsi was interviewed on 22 December 2025 and 9 January 2026. He acknowledged control of the company's accounts but attributed trading activity to an unnamed partner in Dubai whom he declined to identify. Co-defendant Fatima Al-Zahrani stated that she prepared monthly statements 'based on figures provided by the Managing Director' and denied knowledge of their falsity. Co-defendant Yusuf Al-Najjar admitted receiving 4% commission on new investor deposits and stated he believed the trading was genuine.

Section 4 — Evidence Schedule and Witness Statements

4.1 Documentary Evidence

Exhibit	Description	Source
E-1	34 original investment agreements with victim signatures	Residence search, 18 Dec 2025
E-2	Corporate bank statements, Gulf Continental Bank, 2024–2025	Judicial order 2025/889
E-3	Fabricated monthly account statements issued to investors	Complainants' submissions
E-4	Forged trading certificates, 'International Bullion Exchange — Zurich'	Complainants' submissions
E-5	Counterfeit rubber stamp and letterhead templates	Residence search
E-6	Digital forensic image of two laptops (report CFL-2026-071)	Cybercrime Laboratory
E-7	Forensic audit report tracing 2,412,300 KWD of deposits	Expert Daniel Kovacs
E-8	Vehicle and property registration records in relatives' names	Land & Traffic registries

4.2 Witness Statement — Sara Al-Mutairi (Extract)

"I worked at the reception desk of Al-Manar from March 2024 until the office closed. Investors visited almost daily. I never saw any gold, any trading screens, or any traders. The 'trading floor' door was always locked; Mr. Al-Farsi said the trading happened in Zurich. When clients asked for withdrawals in October 2025, I was instructed to say the system was under maintenance."

4.3 Witness Statement — Abdullah Shammari (Extract)

"As the bank relationship manager for the company account, I raised an internal alert in August 2025 because the account pattern — many small incoming personal transfers and large round-number outgoing transfers to newly opened corporate accounts — was inconsistent with the declared commercial activity of gold trading. The compliance team requested supporting trade documents, which were never provided."

4.4 Expert Conclusion (Exhibit E-7, Extract)

"No evidence of bullion trading, hedging, or brokerage activity was identified in any account or device examined. The flow of funds is consistent in structure with a Ponzi arrangement: 47% of investor deposits were recycled as fictitious profit payments, 25% was transferred to the personal benefit of the first defendant, and 34% remains traced to shell entities, partially recovered."
